Whilst the Cotswolds Canal Cruising Club may, through one of its members, organise a club gathering, event or cruise it must be understood that members who take part do so entirely at their own risk and by doing so indemnify the club and its officials from any claim. All skippers are responsible for their own craft and crew and are responsible for their own safety. Decisions they make regarding taking part in any cruise or event are entirely their own and at their own risk. Club organisation will be limited to venue suggestions and routes and gathering points but all decisions about whether to attend any or part of any event is solely that of the Skippers of individual boats. All boats must have in date and valid CRT licence insurance whilst taking part and should act within the requirements of that insurance, and boats taking part are deemed to be so insured.

Your application will be considered by the committee and we will notify you in due course.
